Art Unit: 1754

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-3,5-7,9-12,15-18, drawn to a method of making metal particles, classified in class 75, subclass 330+.
- II. Claims 4,8,13,19, drawn to a method of making a dispersion of metal particles, classified in class 516, subclass 9+.
- III. Claims 14,20, drawn to a metal oxide, classified in class 423, subclass 592.1+.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as mutually exclusive species in an intermediate-final product relationship. Distinctness is proven for claims in this relationship if the intermediate product is useful to make other than the final product, and the species are patentably distinct (MPEP § 806.05(j)). In the instant case, the intermediate product is deemed to be useful as metal alloy precursors or solder material and the inventions are deemed patentably distinct because there is nothing on this record to show them to be obvious variants.

Inventions I and III are directed to an unrelated product and process. Product and process inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that the product cannot be used in, or made by, the process. See MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06. In the instant case, the product metal oxide cannot be made by the process because it is directed to making metal particles.

in, or made by, the process. See MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06. In the instant case, the product metal oxide cannot be made by the process because it is directed to making a metal particle dispersion.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Claims 1-20 are generic to the following disclosed patentably distinct species: copper, silver, gold, magnesium, calcium, strontium, zinc, cadmium, mercury, scandium, yttrium, europium, aluminum, gallium, indium, thallium, titanium, zirconium, germanium, tin, lead, vanadium, niobium, tantalum, arsenic, antimony, bismuth, chromium, molybdenum, tungsten, manganese, technetium, rhenium, iron, cobalt, nickel, ruthenium, and palladium. See instant pg. 47. The species are independent or distinct because each metal has unique properties. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species, even though this requirement is traversed. Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Art Unit: 1754

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species.

MPEP § 809.02(a).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
